From the Leiden Gazette, dated Auguſt 6.

Florence, July 21.

THE Count de Lamberg, the Emperor's Ambaſſador to the Court of Rome, arriv'd Yeſterday at Lucca, having retir'd from the ſaid Court without taking leave of the Pope, and only informing him of his Departure by a ſhort Letter which he ſent to him as he was taking Horſe. We are aſſur'd this unlook'd for withdrawing of his Excellency, has not a little alarm'd the Pope and his Miniſters, the more becauſe the Emperor demands among other things, I. That the Governour of Rome, be excluded the Cardinalſhip and baniſh'd out of the Eccleſiaſtical State. II. That Cardinal Pauluci, be remov'd from being chief Secretary of State, and baniſh'd to ſome forreign Country. III. That General Pauluci his Brother be likewiſe baniſh'd. IV. And that Cardinal Aſtalli Legate of Ferrara, be oblig'd to go to the Court of Vienna, to make his Excuſes for the Partiality which he has ſhewn the French on many Occaſions, to the Damage of the Imperialiſts.

From the Paris Gazette, dated Aug 1.

From the Camp at Soricina, July 20. Some Days ago the Grand Prior of France caus'd Dezenzano to be abandon'd, and the 500 Men that were in it to poſt themſelves in Caſtiglione. He liſtewiſe caus'd the Barks he had on the Lake of Garda to be diſarm'd, and the Crews to retire with the Tackle and warlike Furniture of thoſe Barks to Mantua. The 18th Inſtant, the Count d' Albergotti arriv'd with 9 Battallaions, 10 Squadrons, and the King's Huſſars, detach'd from Piemont. The 19th the Army broke up from Fieſcho, and encamp'd with the Right at Caſalmaron, and the Left at Soricina. This Afternoon at 3 a Clock, the Duke of Vendome went with 6 Companies of Grenadiers and all the Piquets of the Right, to take a view of the Intrenchments the Enemy had made upon 4 Canals lying between Soricina and Zenivolta. He arriv'd there about 6 a Clock, and found them extraordinary ſtrong, and almoſt inacceſſible: Notwithſtanding which, the Grenadiers attack'd them with ſo great Quickneſs and Vigour, that they paſs'd the 4 Canals and forc'd the Intrenchments, with no more Loſs than of 2 Grenadiers kill'd, and 5 wounded. Of 400 Men ſupported by 200 Horſe who defended them, 70 were kill'd, 120 taken Priſoners, among them a Lieutenant-Colloneland 5 Officers: All their Baggage was pillag'd, and one Colours was taken. This Poſt is of the greater Importance, in that it gives us a Communication with the Oglio, and hinders the Enemy's extending themſelves into the Cremoneze. The Sieur de Carolles who commanded the Grenadiers, the Count de Chaſteaumorand, and the Chevalier de Forbin, diſtinguiſh'd themſelves eminently on this Occaſion. The Duke of Vendome has put into this Poſt 2 Brigades of Foot with 4 Pieces of Cannon. The Army is to advance on that ſide, and the Right is to encamp overagainſt Zenevolta, which is but a Mile from the Po, and from that Place the Country is all open to Soncino. We have certain Information that the Enemy's Horſe amounts to near 9000; we cannot yet learn the Number of their Foot.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Auguſt 6.

From Prince Eugene of Savoy's Camp at Romanengo, July 22. The 17th Inſtant, a Captain of Grenadiers of the Regiment of Guttenſtein made an Excurſion with 40 of his Men, and took in a Farm Houſe near the Enemy's Camp, one of their advanc'd Guards conſiſting of 2 Cornet and 23 Horſe. The ſame Day Major Eben brought in 11 French Priſoners, with 8 Mules and 10 Horſes. The 18th ſome of our Parties that were ſent out, brought in ſeveaal of the Enemy Priſoners: And Prince Eugene detach'd Lieutenant Colloncl Elſen of the Regiment of Zumjungen, with 500 Foot and 50 or 60 Horſe, with order to poſt himſelf near Tredeci-ponte, and to ſet Men to Work to perfect the Redoubt and Intrenchments which the Enemy had made there and afterwards abandon'd. The 19th at Daybreak, the Officer who commanded the advanc'd Guard of our left Wing, gave Notice to Prince Eugene that the Enemy's Army was marching, and that a great Body of their Horſe had advanc'd near to our ſaid Guard to view the Poſture we were in; but that after ſome Diſcharges that Body of Cavalry were retir'd, having loſt 5 Men. Prince Eugene ſent out ſeveral ſmall Parties and Spies to get Intelligence which Way the Enemy bent their March; and was inform'd by them that it was towards Soricina. Baron Wetzel who ſome Days before had been ſent with a Detachment towards Uſtiano and other Poſts thereabouts, ſent Intelligence likewiſe by an Expreſs of this Motion of the Enemy; at the ſame time he ſent Word he had taken 20 large Boats which the Enemy had on the Oglio, and that he hop'd to diſlodge them the next Day from Marcaria. The 20th the Enemy retook from us the Redoubt and Intrenchments of Tredeci-ponte; and Lieutenant Colloncl Elſen was oblig'd to rejoin us with his Detachment, after a ſharp Diſpute, in which ſeveral Men were kill'd on both ſides. Baron Wetzel ſent Word he found it neceſſary to defer till to Morrow the Attack of Marcaria. The 21ſt nothing conſiderable paſs'd on either ſide. To Day (the 22d) the Enemy have ſent back to us a certain Number of Priſoners to be exchang'd for ſome of their Men. Upon Advice that the Grand Prior of France and General Langallerie were march'd towards the Oglio with a ſtrong Detachment of the Enemy's Army, Prince Eugence immediately diſpatch'd an Expreſs to give Baron Wetzel Notice of it, that he might be upon his Guard; he alſo ſent him a Reinforcement of 300 Horſe under the Command of Lieutenant Colloncl Locatelli; His Highneſs has beſides ſent out 40 Foot and 50 Horſe to get certain Intelligence of the Motion of this Detachment of the Enemy.

From the Paris Gazette, dated Aug. 8.

From the Camp at Soricina, July 25. The Duke of Vendome had Advice the 21ſt Inſtant, that the Enemy had poſſeſs'd themſelves of Uſtiano and Caneto on the Oglio, and that they were about to attack the Caſtle of Marcaria. Whereupon he detach'd the Grand Prior of France with 8 Battalions and 11 Squadrons, with orders to go to Gazolo below Marcaria, where he ſhould find 2 Battalions and 300 Dragoons commanded by the Sieur des Touches. The Grand Prior arriv'd there the 23d, and order'd a Bridge to be made over the Oglio, which was finiſh'd the 25th in the Morning. While he was giving Directions for marking out a Camp on the other ſide of that River, the Marquis de Chemeraut gave Notice that 400 German Horſe appear'd commanded by an Officer of Reputation nam'd St. Amour. Immediately the Grand Prior caus'd the 300 Dragoons to mount their Horſes, as alſo part of the Picquets of Horſe, Horſe, which were ſupported at a Diſtance by ſome Companies of Grenadiers; and caus'd the Enemy to be charg'd ſo vigorouſly, that they were ſoon put into Diſorder. Our Men purſued them almoſt three Miles, and till they were wholly diſpers'd; 25 were taken Priſoners, and 35 Horſes were taken. But the Number of the kill'd is not yet known, by Reaſon of the Length of the Purſuit. Upon the News of this Defeat, the Enemy abandon'd Marcaria, in which the Grand Prior put 60 Men, and the next Day was to march at Day-break to attack Canetto and Uſtiano.

The Prints ſay the Marſhal de Villars has ſent no Detachment from the upper Rhine to Italy.

From the Paris Gazette, dated Auguſt 8.

Paris, Auguſt 8. The 4th of this Month the Marquis de Lambert brought the News, that the Duke de la Feuillade having march'd the 28th of laſt Month, to attack the Enemy's Horſe near the Malon, found they had paſs'd that River and were retir'd towards the Stura; he follow'd them, and caus'd them to be charg'd by the Chevalier de Miane, with 300 Dragoons, who defeated the Enemy's Dragoons and drove them back upon their Horſe. A great Number was drown'd in the Stura, 4 or 500 were kill'd or wounded, 200 taken Priſoners, and ſeveral Horſes and much Baggage taken. at the ſame time the Duke of Savoy, ſeeing Preparation were made for giving an Aſſault upon Chivas, order'd the Garriſon to march out by the Communication, abandon'd all the Poſts, and retir'd to the riſing Ground call'd the Capuchins, leaving 2 Battalions in Graſſo, on the other ſide of the Po, half way between Chivas and Turin.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Aug 6.

Paris, July 31. The King has receiv'd Advice, That the Portugueze have recover'd Marvan from the Spaniards by Capitulation. The 29th Inſtant the Count de Tholouze ſet out Poſt for Toulon; and was follow'd the next Day by the Marſhal de Coeuvres and many other Sea-Officers. 'Tis given out, that the 10th of next Month he will ſail for the Coaſt of Catalonia with 42 Ships of War of the Line, 28 Frigates, and 18 Galleys, with Fireſhips, &c. that lie ready againſt his coming to Toulon.

'From the Camp at Meldert, Aug 3. The 1ſt Inſtant the Duke of Marlborough went to view the Enemy's Lines between Heyliſſem and Waſeigue; and the Peaſants are ſince ſummon'd in for the 7th Inſtant to begin to level them. Yeſterday Monſieur d'Auverquerque having Notice that a Party of the Enemy's Dragoons were in Ambuſh near his Camp, ſent out 100 Men of his Army, who came up with the Enemy before they could retire, and having killed ſeveral of them upon the place, brought in 25 Priſoners, and as many Horſes, ſo that very few of them made their eſcape. This Day my Lord Duke review'd the firſt Line of our Army, and was very well ſatisfied with the good Order they appear'd in, and to Morrow his Grace will review the ſecond Line. The Earl of Sunderland will leave the Army the 5th Inſtant, and proceed on his Journey to Vienna. The Enemy continue encamp'd on the other ſide of the Dyle, with their Left near Louvain, and their Right near Corbeck, where the Elector of Bavaria and the Marſhal de Villeroy have their Quarters.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Aug. 11.

From the Camp at Meldert, Aug. 6. Yeſterday the Duke of Marlborough made an End of reviewing his Army, and appear'd extremely ſatisfied with the Condition the Troops are in. We impatiently expect the Return of General Hompeſch, whom his Grace the Duke of Marlborough ſent 2 or 3 Days ago to the Hague, on ſome very important Affair.

Hague, Aug. 9. The 7th at Night General Hompeſch, ſet out from hence on his Return to the Duke of Marlborough.

From the Amſterdam Courant, dated Auguſt 11.

From the Army under the Duke of Marlborough, Aug. 6. We have Advice from the Upper Rhine, that the Marſhal de Marſin is detach'd with 4 Brigades of Foot, and 1 of Horſe, to march down to the Netherlands with the Troops that have taken Hombourg; whereupon Orders will be ſent from hence to the Palatin and Pruſſian Troops to take the like March and joyn us: The Generals of thoſe Troops have Direction from their Principals to have regard to the Duke of Marlborough's Orders only, and to March whitherſoever he ſhall command them.

'From the Camp at Meldert, Aug. 10. Orders are 'given for ſending a Train of Artillery from Maeſtricht for attacking the Town of Sout-Leeuwe, 'while we are employ'd in levelling the Lines. The 'taking of this Place will be a great Curb to the Enemy's Parties, which infeſt the Mayory of Boiſleduc, 'and the Country between that and the Maeſe. The 'two Armies continue ſtill in the ſame Situation.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Aug. 11.

From the Camp of General Spar, at Merendert within the Lines of Flanders. Aug. 5. Baron Spar having reſolv'd to attack the Enemy's Lines in Flanders, detach'd the 3d Inſtant at 9 at Night ſome Troops from the Camp at Riemen, with order to poſt themſelves on the Canal of Bruges; and 2 Hours after, he follow'd with the reſt of the Body of Troops he has under his Command. All being arriv'd at the Place appointed, we began at 4 a Clock Yeſterday Morning to lay 3 Bridges over the Canal, and all our Grenadiers, ſupported by a good Body of Foot, were commanded to paſs over. They paſs'd near Fort St. Philip, being favour'd by a great Fire from ſeveral Pieces of Cannon that we had plac'd in Battery on the Bank of the Canal; this Paſſage was not difficult, there being in that Place but few of the Enemy's regular and militia Troops, who upon our Approach fled. In leſs than 3 Quarters of an Hour, we took 4 ſmall Forts, and in them 158 Priſoners, among which are 3 Captains, 3 Lieutenants, and 2 Sergeants. The Fright of the Enemy was ſo great, that 3 Battalions they had in the Pariſh of Lovendegem, fled towards Ghent, Colonel Sar who commanded them and who was abed when the Alarm was given, making his Eſcape in his Shirt, (without ſtaying to put on his Breeches,) on a Horſe without a Saddle. Thus we happily forc'd the Enemy's Lines here, and have already begun to level them. This proſperous Expedition lays the Enemy's Country open to us, and gives us an Opportunity to raiſe very great Contributions. There is a Talk of ſending a Detachment towards Deinſe, to paſs the Liſs there, and to act in Concert with the Army in Brabant; but 'tis probable General Spar will firſt wait for Orders from the States.
